The Bloody Mary Legacy

The Bloody Mary
The St. Regis Signature Cocktail

In 1934, Fernand Petiot the bartender at The St. Regis New York's King Cole Bar, perfected the recipe for a vodka-and-tomato juice cocktail he dubbed the Bloody Mary. Deemed too racy a name for the hotel's clientele, it was rechristened the Red Snapper. While the latter moniker may not have stood the test of time, Fernand's spicy concoction certainly has.

Bloody Mary - Red Snapper The St. Regis New York

₹ 1000

The original recipe created at the King Cole Bar at The St. Regis New York is spiced up with Grey Goose vodka, tomato juice, lemon, Worcestershire sauce, cayenne pepper.

Mumbai Mary The St. Regis Mumbai

₹ 1000

Our signature takes on the worldly cocktail, this embodies Grey Goose vodka with fresh cooked tomato puree with spices to create a hearty drink. This can be sipped on all day long.

Siam Mary The St. Regis Bangkok

₹ 1000

A signature from The St. Regis, Bangkok, and this spicy, zest cocktail is. Undeniably refreshing and made up with Grey Goose vodka, wasabi, Thai chili & tomatoes.

Harry's Texas Bloody Mary The St. Regis Houston

₹ 1000

Combining traditional Grey Goose vodka with the earthy flavor of tequila harkens to the locale's Mexican roots, while spicy jalapeno pepper & cajun seasoning give this concoction a bold flavor.

Saké

Sake became a trendy and recognizable drink all around the world. The foundations of good sake are quality rice, crystal clear water, koji mold and yeast. Sake pairs well with any kind of food but compliments the delicate flavors of Japanese and Peruvian cuisine particularly well.
